

Arte al Centro 2004, Convegno Laboratorio: Scrivere la Trasformazione / Convention-Workshop: Writing Transformation, "Interview with Professor Noam Chomsky" di / by Federico Casalegno, Cambridge 2002, Cittadellarte, Biella 2004.

Noam Chomsky

intellettuale, linguista, critico sociale, dal 1961 Professore di Linguistica e Direttore del Dipartimento di Linguistica e filosofia del MIT - Massachusetts Institute of Technology / intellectual, linguist and social critic, since 1961 Professor of Linguistics and Director of the Department of Linguistics and Philosophy at MIT, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

... people are not willing to be slaves, so they find other ways of communicating and organizing when the media essentially disappear as means of communication. And in fact that has happened. For example, the Internet has been used very widely and effectively for popular organization and for communicating information that does not appear in the press....

With a laptop computer and a $100 printer, you can publish and distribute whatever you want. So there are ways that are used to get around the media concentration. By now there are popular movements around the world, or at a scale never reached before...
